Case Study

Luxury Villa

Heusden | Belgium

Objective | comfortable living.

Description | The private home of the family De Schrijver boasts a wonderful and very complete TELETASK installation. Besides light, temperature and access control, one will find home theatre, curtains and sun shades, swimming pool, door phone integration, etc.

Upon entering the living room the beautiful minimalist design immediately captures the eye. The TELETASK user interfaces blend perfectly into the interior –being both strategically and discretely positioned. In this family house the added value of home automation lays mainly in heightened comfort. In most rooms an OCTO touch panel offers control over light, temperature and curtains. The SERVUS in the kitchen also controls the sprinklers in the garden, the sun blinds above the patio and the RGB lights in the adjacent living room. There is multi room audio, with speakers in the garden. A couple of local moods can change the ambiance of the living room in just a matter of seconds. The integration with video door phone add to the security level.

Project Data

Special Features

- Access control
The video door phone is integrated into the TELETASK system. The SERVUS keeps a photograph of every person who rings at the door.
- RGB light
Several colour scenes are configured as local moods. The living room ceiling changes colour accordingly.
- Home entertainment
The family's home theatre set is integrated into the system. A simple push on the watch TV button closes the curtain, dims the lights and starts up the projector.
- Leave house mood
All major electric devices are automatically switched off, when the last person leaves the building. Thus reducing fire hazard.
